

Review: Our Postmortem By And The Professors

Posted on November 17, 2013 by mattwhitby

Holy Cow! I love this album so much I just don't know where to start.

Firstly you need to go and listen to it over at Bandcamp. Just come back here when you're done. Take your time. I'm happy to wait.

(waits)

It's great, right? What did I tell you. Well it's a collaborative effort with (amongst others) members of The Honeydogs of whom i'm a big fan. I guess if you really insist of categorising music you'd put it in the Baroque Pop / Chamber Pop hole, but lets not do that. I'm struggling to think of a similar band but the best I can do at the time of writing is The Leisure Society.

Knowing that a mere review can never do justice to this album i'm going to sign off and just spend the afternoon listening to it on loop.

I'd be pretty surprised if this didn't end up as my #1 number for the Audities Best of 2013 list.

Listen. Enjoy. Buy.