

GREAT MUSIC LIVES HERE.

Member Supported · Join Now

- Mobile
- Newsletters
- RSS Feeds
- Podcasts

HOME / PLAYLIST / ARCHIVES / PROGRAMS / LOCAL CURRENT / ABOUT

SLEEP STUDY PERFORMS IN THE CURRENT STUDIOS

by David Campbell, Minnesota Public Radio, Jon Schober, Minnesota Public Radio August 5, 2012

LISTEN

EMBED | HELP

SPONSOR:

Cory Eischen, Justin Hartke, Ryan Paul Plewacki and Alexander Young (Photo by Elli Rader)

St. Paul, Minn. — Sleep Study's craft comes in their songwriting, joining the ranks of other established lyricists in the Twin Cities like Chris Koza, Jeremy Messersmith and Adam Levy. Coupled with strong chemistry within the band and an updated '70s aesthetic as heard on their first single "Flower Girl," the group has been making waves since their formation last summer.

It's been a long time coming, but debut album Nothing Can Destroy is finally seeing a release after six months on Simon Recordings in New York. While waiting for that deal to come through, Sleep Study has been playing throughout town on a consistent basis to perpetuate the already strong buzz.

They fill a niche that the community hasn't embraced as fully compared to other music genres, and perhaps that's why the interest in Sleep Study's future is so promising.

Songs performed: "Flower Girl," "Souvenirs" and "It's Not Fair"

AUDIO

Sleep Study performs in The Current studios (feature audio)

PHOTOS

Sleep Study

RESOURCES

Official Website

Facebook

YOUR VOICE

Recommend

Tweet 8

+1

Pin it

SPONSORS

Download the free MPR News iPad app.

Available on the App Store

MPRnews

BECOME A SPONSOR >

MN Beatles Project V3

1 CD

Beatles covered by 15 local artists, benefits Minnesota public schools

Sale: $15.00 BUY

YOUR PURCHASE SUPPORTS PUBLIC RADIO

More products from The Current